Over the past 25 years or so, I have used maybe ten different decorators to paint the inside and outside of the house in the square where my wife and I live in Islington. Noble Decorators were recommended to me by my carpenter in 2011, and they are certainly the best decorators I have come across.

During the past year, working in five or six sessions at my convenience, they have painted the entire interior of the flat (two floors) and the back of the house (five storeys, including repairs to the chimneys). They did an excellent job each time. They work quickly but always carefully, and charge reasonably, and the chief decorator, Fran Marku, is very pleasant to deal with.

I recommend them without hesitation. In fact, if there were a Nobel Prize for decorating, I would nominate Noble Decorators!
